The Policy to be pursued towards Rebel Sympathizers.

It would seem that the conciliatory policy towards the politicians who have opposed, from the first, the efforts of the government to suppress the rebellion, has about ended. It is apparent that our government cannot fight the rebels in front and take care of its enemies in the rear at the same time. The attempt to keep the leaders of the democratic party from doing harm to the loyal cause, by giving them military commands, and sharing with them to a considerable extent the civil offices of the country, has not succeeded. They take what they can get in this line, while a large majority of them are found persistently using all their artful powers, increased by the official positions they hold, in thwarting the military policy and plans of the government. This was foreseen and the administration warned of it in the beginning, both in regard to northern proslavery democrats and southern border state men, but the trial had to be made to satisfy those in power. The experiment has been a costly one and has resulted in failure.

It is true that there are a considerable number of loyal democrats who have stood by the government from the start, but it was not because they were induced to do so by conciliation or the rewards of office, but because they were inherently loyal and patriotic. These men are now among the most radical in their sentiments in regard to the measures necessary to suppress the rebellion, and they are indignantly discarded by the party democratic hacks who are intent on building up a political organization, rather than supporting their country in its days of trial.

Traitors who are so now will continue their treason to the end, aiding the rebels and throwing obstacles in the way of the government. Such factious opposition to war measures is no new thing in this country. As strange as it may appear, there were large numbers of Tories during the revolution who opposed the war upon precisely the same grounds, and offered the same excuses that the copperheads do at this time. During the war of 1812 the federal party was nearly as powerful and quite as malignant as the misnamed democratic party of this day. In many places they were largely in the majority, and celebrated the victories of the enemy by processions, bonfires and the discharge of cannon. The perversity of human nature was as unaccountable in those days as it is now. It was found then, as now, useless to treat them with conciliation and persuasion. They respected nothing but power and success.

Having learned by experience the lesson taught by all history, that a nation, an administration or an individual, can only rely upon friends, we trust that the President will speedily expel from his army and civil offices, all who are not truly loyal and willing to second his efforts to save the country with their whole hearts; and send beyond our military lines every man and woman who is willfully guilty of giving aid to the rebels in arms. In no other way than by war can the nation be saved, and military operations can never tolerate secret or open enemies, working to thwart its plans, and be successful.

Narrow Escape of Gen. Hooker.—On Sunday, when the engagement was in progress at Chancellorsville, the large brick mansion used as headquarters by General Hooker was shelled and set on fire. Previous to leaving the building, General Hooker was knocked down by a post supporting a porch, which a shell had torn out, and for a short time the command devolved upon General Couch. General Hooker's bruises were not serious.

Edward Everett has an article in the New York Ledger for May 16th, on the preparation of the confederate government to reopen the slave trade, in which he gives the preliminary chapters of the history of this nefarious plan, as they have manifested themselves from time to time at the south; and he promises to point out in his next paper the manner in which the confederate government expect to accomplish the object.

Nomination of John J. Crittenden.—A Union convention in the 7th Kentucky district has nominated John J. Crittenden for congress. The following is among the resolutions adopted:

The Hon. John J. Crittenden having declared himself in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war, and having pledged himself by a note for sufficient men and money to suppress the rebellion to the last dollar and last man, we therefore unanimously present his name to the voters of the 7th congressional district as our choice for a seat in the next congress.

Mr. Crittenden accepted the nomination in a short speech, pledging himself to carry out the spirit of that resolution.

The convention was large and enthusiastic for the Union, and was composed of men who are determined to sink the negro, and quit quarrelling with the President until this rebellion is put down forever.

Messrs. Editors.—Being in command of Company E, (JANESVILLE LIGHT GUARD) 6th Wisconsin Volunteers, I feel it my duty to address you a few lines in regard to the transactions through which we have recently been called to pass; knowing that it will be of interest to you, and, if worthy of publication, to the citizens of Janesville and vicinity, who have friends in said company.

We received orders to march, and left our camp near Belle Plain, Virginia, April 28th, 1863. We marched to the bank of the Rappahannock, where we were detailed with the rest of the "Light Division" to convey pontoon boats by hand, about one mile to the edge of the river, which we accomplished about daylight the next morning, and then retired to the rear, where we remained in camp until the first of May, when we crossed the river and took our post as picket guard, where we remained until the night of the 2d inst., when we attacked the rebel pickets and drove them. Returned to our former position to rest.

We were called up about twelve o'clock the same night, and were marched to Bedricksburg, where we arrived about daylight on the morning of the third, and rested some three hours; we were then moved to the right, opposite the strongest fortification to the rear of Bedricksburg, which we received orders to charge upon, and carry the aforesaid heights. We received the order, "Forward—double quick," about 11 a. m.; we gave one simultaneous shout and rushed on to victory or death. Those that survived reached the heights and planted the Star Spangled Banner on the most prominent points of the rebel fortifications. The right wing of the 6th Wisconsin led the charge, as skirmishers, supported by the rest of the "Light Division." The left wing of the 6th Wisconsin being the rear support, with company E on the right bearing the regimental colors, carried by Color Sergeant C. O. Harrington, of Co. E, and were the second colors made of the fortification, the 6th Maine being the first. Our Colonel, T. S. ALLEN, who led the skirmishers, was the fourth man inside the fort. Before reaching the rifle pits in front of the heights, the following casualties happened to the following members of company E: Private Royal W. Pitts was struck in the head by a bullet and instantly killed; Private Richard D. Coonen, struck in the right shoulder, badly wounded; Private George Pederson, struck in the left arm, slightly wounded; Corp'l H. S. Ames, wounded in the left leg, bullet passing through and making a flesh wound. At reaching the heights the following casualties happened from the bullets of the retreating rebels: Private John D. Valentine, while chasing the rebels, received a mortal wound in the groin, and as he has not been seen in any of the hospitals, is supposed to be dead; Corp'l W. W. Higgins, slightly wounded in the leg; myself, while retreating the company on the heights, was slightly wounded in front, in the left thigh; the ball first passing through a canteen filled with water, breaking the force of the bullet. I went to the rear, had the wound dressed, and am now with the company again. Serg't J. W. Huggins was struck in the foot by a piece of shell from our own battery, before the charge was made, slight wound.

The following is the abbreviated account of the transactions of the Co. after I left it, in charge of 2d Lieut. Mills, on the heights. After a rest of half an hour, we were ordered to advance, driving the rebels, and obtaining the 2d line of fortifications. We halted four miles from Bedricksburg to rest for the night. When we arose in the morning we found that the rebels had passed to our rear, in force, and gained possession of the heights which we had gained so dearly the day before; we had no other alternative but to find our way to the river at Bank's ford, ten miles above Bedricksburg, for which point we started. We were surrounded by the rebels near the Ford but cut our way through and crossed the river about daylight the morning of the fifth, and went into camp, where we now remain.

It will be understood, that we were connected with whole of the 6th Corps in this movement. The rebels in gaining our rear captured five pack mules, and all the blankets, tents, overcoats, rations &c., of the officers of our Regt. with the Colonel's and Major's horses, and William Folsom of Company E, who was hostler for the Major. Major Wheeler, formerly Captain of Co. E, was slightly wounded during the charge, and is now at the hospital. Serg't Huggins, Corps. Wiggins and Ames, privates, Coonen and Pederson, are doing well at the hospital, and receiving good care.

Our regiment suffered severely, having lost about one hundred and sixty killed and six wounded. Co. E, behaved with the most bravery, every man who was not wounded was present at the charge—went up to the heights without flinching (with the exception of four, who I am sorry to say laid down before reaching the rifle pits), which I consider remarkable, having started to the charge with fifty men. And after losing the heights, I am told by Lieut. Mills, that every man came up to the work, without flinching or straggling. The foregoing is the condensed account of our transaction. I have not time to give a more detailed account, and our facilities for writing are not the best, as we have to use the ground for a chair, and a cracker box for a desk, and with the delightful anticipation of a good night's rest in the rain, without tents or blankets, but as a substitute therefor, an old tent fly, opened at both ends, and for blankets, a bunch of pine boughs. Therefore I bid you good night, and bid the flickering of our candle, and retire to our couches, hoping that we may be spared to help restore the Union to its former glorious position, and to see the supporters of tyranny completely annihilated.

A. W. HATHAWAY, 1st Lieut., Commanding Co. E, 6th Regt. Wis. Vol.

WASHINGTON, May 11. A special to the Times says that under the provisions of the enrollment law, as construed at the war department, the men will be in the service of the Union, and the government has ordered that they be put in uniform and provided with knapsacks, haversacks, &c., &c., as soon as they report to the provost marshals.

The quartermaster general has been ordered to fill the requisitions of the provost marshal general for the clothing and other equipments to be delivered at whatever point the latter may designate.

West Point, May 9. While public attention has been so thoroughly engaged recently by movements on a large scale on the Rappahannock, and while all the eyes of the north have been turned upon Major General Hooker, a small but well considered enterprise has succeeded under Major General E. D. Keyes, in taking a considerable force from the latter's command at Yorktown and landing them at West Point, whence Major Hall, of the 6th New York Cavalry, having been last, penetrated to White House and destroyed the bridge there, in spite of the opposition of the enemy, and brought in some thirty prisoners, driving the rebels into the Mataponi River.

General Keyes, who has been in the saddle ever since his arrival, on Thursday morning, is indefatigable in his exertions, and is in capital spirits, as he always is in the field, and is entirely ready for any emergency. Acting Major General Gordon is also here, and services as chief of staff, and we have no fears for the future. The pickets of Major General Keyes are now within 25 miles of Richmond, and you may be assured that if this officer finds a chance he will get into that city, and find, in strife and struggle, some recompense for his long inactivity at Yorktown.

To-Day's Report.

MORNING DISPATCHES.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, May 11th.

Richmond papers of yesterday announce the death of Stonewall Jackson on Sunday p. m., from the effects of his recent amputation, and pneumonia. A large number of ambulances proceeded to-day towards the United States Ford for the remainder of our wounded within the enemy's lines.

New York, May 13. The following address has been issued by Gen. Lee to the army under his command:

General Orders No. 60.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, May 13th.

With heart felt gratification, the general commanding expresses to the army his sense of the heroic conduct displayed by officers and men during the arduous operations in which they have just been engaged. Under trying vicissitudes you attacked the enemy strongly entrenched in the depths of a tangled wilderness, and again on the hills of Fredericksburg, 16 miles distant, and by the valor that has triumphed on so many fields, forced him once more to seek safety beyond the Rappahannock.

While this glorious victory entitles you to the praise and gratitude of the nation, we are especially called upon to return our grateful thanks to the only giver of victory for the signal deliverance he has wrought. It is therefore earnestly recommended that the troops unite, on next Sunday, in ascribing to the Lord of Hosts the glory. Let us not forget in our rejoicings the brave comrades who have fallen in defense of their country. While we mourn their loss let us resolve to emulate their noble example. The army and the country alike lament the absence for a time of one to whose bravery, energy and skill they are so much indebted for success.

The following letter from the President of the confederate states is communicated to the army as an expression of his appreciation of its success. "I have received your despatch and reverently unite with you in giving praise to God for the success with which he has crowned our arms. In the name of the people I offer my candid thanks to yourself and the troops under your command, for this addition to the unprecedented series of the great victories which your army has achieved. The universal rejoicing produced by this happy result will be mingled with a general regret for the good and brave who are numbered among the killed and the wounded."

[Signed.] R. E. LEE, General.

New York, May 13. Monday night, through the negligence of the officers of the Sumter, two quartermasters stole the safe out of the paymaster's room, put it into a boat and escaped with it. The facts have been forwarded to the department and the negligent officers will be court martialed. The safe contained $3,000.

New York, May 13. Brig. Gen. Meagher has tendered his resignation as commandant of what he not unjuly styles was once known as the Irish brigade, deeming that it has been in repeated disgrace since its organization until it has fallen to the low commercial standard of less than a minimum of one cent.

Meagher declines to risk the lives of the remaining few, and therefore asks to be relieved of his command, offering his personal services to the government at the same time in any other military capacity.

The Herald says the navy department has ordered the construction of two vessels of war, of great speed. They will carry eight heavy guns, and it is believed will be the fastest vessels of war ever built.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

New York, May 13.

The Washington Chronicle of yesterday says that Vallandigham has been sentenced by Burnside to Tortugas for two years.

New York, May 13. Extra steamer and a shade firmer; 6.85 a/c. Flour steady; 6.75a/c. R. H. O. Wheat very quiet. Corn steady and more active; 85a/c. steady, 81a/c. unsound.

New York, May 13. Advice from Newbern, North Carolina, 7th, states that the rebels refuse to receive disloyal citizens sent out of our lines, except those who give security of ability to take care of themselves.

A despatch to the News Room, from San Francisco 12th, states that the French loss at Puebla to the 14th, according to advices received from Mexico, is 4,000 killed and wounded. Five thousand French reinforcements had reached Puebla.

The Broadway Railroad Bill, which passed the New York Legislature at the close of the session, amid much excitement, and charges of bribery and corruption, has, after ten days' consideration, been vetoed by Gov. Seymour. His reasons were, chiefly, that the bill was unconstitutional.

The Laborer's Evening Song.

'Tis a cherry light, 'tis a flickering light,
For the evening is chill and drear,
And that is the glow of a heart which I know
Has a welcome and rest for the weary.
In a little while, with a sunny smile,
My wife will have me greet me,
And our baby boy, with a shout of joy,
Will stretch out his arms to meet me.
Others may stop at the first hearth-stone,
While the laborer's heart is sore;
But the cup of life that is waiting me,
Will bring neither shame nor sorrow.
Around my knee, in joyous glees,
Will be happy children clinging;
And I will hear their voices sing
A hymn at evening slumbering.
My wife and I will thankfully
Go on our way together,
And have no fear, though darkness be near,
Hard times—our weary wanderer.
Life's wear and tear will bravely bear,
Sustained in joy or sorrow;
We'll face the life that is before us,
And we'll be true to the life of to-day.
And when, at last, life's labors are past,
And our bodies in dust are lying,
Our souls shall rest in that home of the blest,
Where there's "no more sorrow nor crying."

Some of the inland lakes of Wisconsin are being stocked with white fish and trout from Lake Michigan, and they are said to thrive well in all the deep lakes. Geneva Lake is being supplied this spring. The fish are taken out in large tanks on cars, and, we are informed, about one quarter of those shipped arrive in good condition.

FROM THE 11TH REGIMENT.—A private letter from a member of the 11th regiment, received in Madison, dated Perkins' Landing, Wis., (opposite Jeff. Davis' plantation, and about 13 miles from Grand Gulf.) May 1st, says: "Our troops are engaged at Grand Gulf confident of a complete victory. Anticipate good news."

The letter states that during pending movements, mails from the army were suspended for a short time, which accounts for the delay in getting letters from our boys down the Mississippi.

COMPANIES UNDER THE NEW MILITIA

LAW.—The following are the companies which have reported to the adjutant general under the new militia law: Fond du Lac company, Captain C. H. Pier, 101 men; Douglas County Guard, Superior, 94 men; Governor's Guard, Ashford, Fond du Lac company, 60 men.

SOBRIETY OF TREASURY NOTES IN BALTIMORE.

The Baltimore American says there is an actual scarcity of United States Treasury notes in that city. The agents of the government for the issue of the 5 per cent. bonds require payment of treasury notes, refusing those of the banks, and the large investments daily made in these bonds have doubtless caused the scarcity.

Lyons' Katharion.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its fame, and its unprecedented sale of over one million bottles annually. It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year. It is again known that the Katharion is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of dandruff and dirt, gives the hair a lively rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. There are considerations worth knowing. The Katharion has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Katharion. It is a hair dressing of the most reliable kind. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world. D. S. BARNES & CO., 209 Madison Ave., New York.

J. M. BURGESS, Postmaster.

Ladies' Aid Society.

The regular Weekly Meeting of this society will be held to-morrow, in its rooms in Jackson & Smith's building, at the usual hours. A full attendance is particularly requested.

Union Meeting in Cookville.

James M. Burgess will address the citizens of Cookville and vicinity, next Friday evening, 15th inst. The "copperheads" will receive special attention.

REMOVAL.—D. D. Wilson has removed his music store to the store two doors below the post-office, and made additions to his stock. He will keep well supplied with every kind of musical instrument from a piano to a jews-harp, and all the new musical publications as they are published. Mr. Wilson is an old resident, a popular trader, a good man generally, and deserves the public patronage.

LOSS IN THE FIFTH REGIMENT.—Orderly Sergeant James McDaniel, of Company E, fifth regiment, writes to his friends in the city that he escaped unharmful in the battle of Fredericksburg. He says that there were 32 killed in the regiment, 129 wounded and 27 missing—total loss, 189.

The members of Washington Engine Co. No. 3 will meet for drill at their engine house, to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. A punctual attendance is requested.

M. H. CURTIS, Foreman.

J. T. WILCOX, Secretary.

MILITARY COMPANY.—We have been requested to give notice that all persons willing to join a volunteer company, under the late militia act, are requested to meet at the office of Sloan, Patten & Bailey, at 8 o'clock this evening, to take the proper steps to effect the organization of such a company.

New Post Office.—A new post office has been established at the Magnolia railroad station, called Cainville.

The Laborer's Evening Song.

"Thy cherry night, thy flickering light,
For the straining eye and weary hand,
And that the glow of hearth which I know
Has a welcome and rest for the weary."
In a little while, with a sunny smile,
My wife will be at my side,
And our baby boy, with a shout of joy,
Will stretch out his arms to meet me.
Others may stop at the first view,
Waiting their turn to be served,
But the cup of tea that is waiting for me,
Will bring neither shame nor sorrow.
Around my knee, in joyous glees,
Will be happy children clanging;
And I shall look their voices close
A hymn at evening singing.
My wife and I will thankfully
Go on our way together,
And have no fear, though storms be near,
Hard times, or wintry weather.
Life's wear and tear we'll bravely bear,
Contented in God's love;
We'll have no fear, though storms be near,
Hard times, or wintry weather.
And when, at last, life's labor is past,
And our bodies are dust,
Our souls shall rest in that home of the blessed,
Where there's "no more sorrow nor crying."

Some of the inland lakes of Wisconsin are being stocked with white fish and trout from Lake Michigan, and they are said to thrive well in all the deep lakes. Geneva Lake is being supplied this spring. The fish are taken out in large tanks on cars, and, we are informed, about one quarter of those shipped arrive in good condition.

FROM THE 11TH REGIMENT.—A private letter from a member of the 11th regiment, received in Madison, dated Perkins' Landing, La., (opposite Jeff. Davis' plantation, and about 15 miles from Grand Gulf.) May 1st, says: "Our troops are engaged at Grand Gulf confident of a complete victory. Anticipate good news."

The letter states that during pending movements, mails from the army were suspended for a short time, which accounts for the delay in getting letters from our boys down the Mississippi.

COMPANIES UNDER THE NEW MILITIA LAW.—The following are the companies which have reported to the adjutant general under the new militia law: Fond du Lac company, Captain C. H. Pier, 101 men; Douglas County Guard, Superior, 94 men; Governor's Guard, Ashford, Fond du Lac company, 50 men.

SCARCITY OF TREASURY NOTES IN BALTIMORE.—The Baltimore American says there is an actual scarcity of United States Treasury notes in that city. The agents of the government for the issue of the 5 per cent. bonds require payment of treasury notes, refusing those of the banks, and the large investments daily made in these bonds have doubtless caused the scarcity.

ILLINOIS STATE FAIR.—The eleventh annual fair of the Illinois State Agricultural Society will be held at Decatur, from the 20th of September to the 3d of October, inclusive.

The post commander at Lexington has issued an order requiring all citizens to take an oath of allegiance or consider themselves under arrest. The order caused the greatest excitement, and a happy effect.

The Memphis Bulletin says: "We understand Jackson is already invested, and that the rebels have no way of getting out of Vicksburg, but by cutting their way through the national army."

Captain Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., son of the poet, was wounded for the third time, in the battle at Chancellorsville, on Saturday last.

Lyons' Hairdressing.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecendented sale of over one million bottles annually. It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when the hair is in such a state of decay as to require it. It is a lively rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Lyons' Hairdressing has been tested for over twenty years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Lyons' Hairdressing. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world. It is a truly perfect, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world. It is a truly perfect, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

A Friend in Need. Try It.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT is prepared from the recipe of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the great bone setter, and has been used in his practice for the last twenty years with the most successful results. As an external remedy it is without a rival, and will alleviate pain more speedily than any other preparation. For all Rheumatic, Neuralgic, Catarrhal, Sprains, Bruises, &c. it is a cure. For Burns, Wounds, Sprains, Bruises, &c. it is a cure. For Burns, Wounds, Sprains, Bruises, &c. it is a cure. For Burns, Wounds, Sprains, Bruises, &c. it is a cure.

The transactions in flour were light, and the market was quiet and unchanged.

Corn in good demand and ruled firm at 45c for mixed in store. Canal corn was quiet and nominally unchanged.

Buys and sellers of oats were apart in their views, and sales were light at 55c for No. 1 and 54, 55c for No. 2. There was nothing done in rye and prices were entirely nominal. Barley quiet and unchanged.

Seeds dull. Salt firm. Groceries unchanged. Provisions steady. Highwines more active.

WE have taken advantage of the recent unparalleled fall in the price of gold, McKee having

BOUGHT LARGELY

Sacrificed Many Desirable Goods

at 50 cents on the dollar of the price ruling one week previous. The public are aware that the cause of the great advance in the price of Imported Goods was the enormous premium on gold, to buy exchange and pay bonds at a discount from 75 to 85 per cent, or about 50 per cent on former rates, and we have been doing on the spot when it took place, went in for the purchase of one of which would double up the entire

Files of Goods,

the public that those who are compelled to buy goods in small lots, and live at it were from hand to mouth,
